

Site License Agreement

from Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. for Use of the Electronic Version of *Differential and Integral Equations

NOTE: If your institution has already signed a site license for Differential and Integral Equations, nothing further is required. You do not need to send a license each time you renew.

Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc., P.O. Box 2470, West Palm Beach, Florida 33402 USA, as Owner and Publisher of the scholarly journal Differential and Integral Equations (hereinafter referred to as DIE), hereby grants to

---

Name of Licensee

a nontransferable and nonexclusive annual right and license to access, receive, disseminate locally, and use the electronically available versions of DIE articles according to the procedures, terms, and conditions set forth in this Agreement; and with the signature below the Licensee accepts these terms.

1. Warranty of Publisher Right to Offer Resource

Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. warrants to the Licensee that it is fully authorized to disseminate, in accordance with the terms and conditions hereof, the Licensed Material; and that the Licensed Material, if used as contemplated in this License, does not in any known way infringe any copyright or other proprietary or intellectual property rights of any natural or legal person.

2. Scope of License

Access to an electronic database of articles from DIE will be made available to all Internet Protocol (IP) addresses within the domain of the Licensee, as described at the end of this document. All members of the Licensee's campus or institutional community who are authorized to use the computers within this domain are deemed Authorized Users of the site license. Walk-ins are also deemed Authorized Users of the site license but do not have remote access privileges. For an organization with locations in more than one city, each location is considered to be a separate site and would require separate license agreements unless a separate agreement can be negotiated between Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. and the Licensee (with or without additional subscription fees being required by Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc.).

3. Access and Availability

Licensees will have perpetual access to content from the paid subscription year(s) starting with the 2013 subscription year. Licensees will have access to all back content not previously purchased if they have a current subscription, and if they have subscribed for the two previous consecutive years. Since Khayyam publications were not available online until 2013, subscribers prior to 2013 will not have online access to previous back content unless they purchase a 2013 subscription. Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc., either directly or through a contractor, shall use all reasonable endeavors to make access available on a 24-hour basis. But if access is suspended or interrupted or a defect occurs that prevents access, Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc.'s liability shall be limited to using all reasonable efforts to restore access as soon as is reasonably practicable.

4. Permitted Use and Prohibitions

Authorized Users may download, save, and print DIE articles from the database for their own noncommercial educational and research use, but may not further disseminate these articles in their electronic form without express written permission from Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. It is strictly prohibited for the Licensee to download copies of the entire database for any purpose without express written permission. The Licensee will exercise reasonable efforts to ensure that access to and use of DIE is limited to Authorized Users. Provisions for sharing by the Licensee of the electronic versions of DIE articles with persons outside the Licensee's campus or institution, or with other institutions affiliated with the Licensee, may be negotiated between Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. and the Licensee (with or without additional subscription fees being required by Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc.). Any such amendments will not be valid unless attached in writing to this License Agreement.

Interlibrary loan: A hard copy printed from the electronic files of DIE may be supplied to another institution by mail or fax or secure transmission using Ariel or its equivalent (whereby the electronic file is deleted immediately after printing). The supply of such copies must conform to CONTU (National Commission on New Technological Uses of Copyrighted Works) guidelines or similar restrictions to "fair use" provisions under copyright law.

Coursepacks: Copies for course or research use that are supplied to the end user at no cost may be made without explicit permission or fee. Copies that are provided to the end user for a copying fee may not be made without payment of permission fees to Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc.

Electronic reserves: Articles for course or research use that are supplied to the end user at no cost may be made without explicit permission or fee. Articles that are provided to the end user for a fee of any sort may not be made without payment of permission fees to Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. E-reserves should be posted on a secure site accessible to class members only, and articles purged from the e-reserve system at the end of each semester.

5. Breach

Under ordinary circumstances, should a breach of this Agreement by the Licensee or an Authorized User come to the attention of Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc., Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. will inform the Licensee and provide a reasonable amount of time (ordinarily 30 days) for investigation and, if necessary, correction of the breach. But Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. shall have the right immediately to suspend this License Agreement, without need for provision of proof, if it determines that the Licensee has committed a serious and material breach of the Agreement or one that is likely to continue. If it is feasible to cut off the access of a single offending user, rather than the entire institution, that will be done. If Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. is in breach of this agreement, the Licensee will inform Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. in writing and allow 30 days to mend the breach. If the breach is not cured, the Licensee may terminate the agreement upon written notice and receive a pro-rated refund.

6. Changes to License

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement and supersedes all prior communications, understandings, and agreements, until such time as modifications or amendments to the Agreement are mutually agreed to in writing and signed by the authorized representatives of both parties.

7. Usage Statistics

Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc. will make a reasonable effort to supply the Licensee with usage statistics in accordance with the guidelines of ICOLC (International Coalition of Library Consortia) and/or Project COUNTER.

NOTE: If your institution has already signed a site license for the Differential and Integral Equations, nothing further is required. You do not need to send a license each time you renew.

---

Licensee signature Date

---

Name and title of Licensee signatory

---

Authorized representative of Khayyam Publishing Date

(Khayyam Publishing will return a countersigned copy.)

Required Information for Differential and Integral Equations Site License Agreement

Please type all of the following information, for the sake of legibility.

E-mail address of Licensee

Postal address of Licensee (please type):

Subscription Agent / Consortium / Vendor (please type):

IP domain of Licensee (please type):

Please sign and fax or mail the site license to:

Khayyam Publishing Company, Inc.
P.O. Box 2470, West Palm Beach
Florida 33402 USA

Phone: (740) 593-3281, (740) 331-1212
khayyam@aftabi.com